THE KIT BANK TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Thank you for considering a donation of musical equipment to support young musicians. To ensure transparency and mutual understanding, please review the following terms and conditions:

The Kit Bank is managed by Cambridge Junction and is open to any individuals who own musical equipment they no longer wish to keep. If the person wishing to donate equipment is under the age of 18, permission will be required from a parent or guardian.

Purpose of Donations

All donated musical equipment will be utilised to support and enhance the musical development and experiences of young musicians who face significant financial barriers. Donations will not be sold for profit. If a donated item is deemed unsuitable for use, it may be repaired, sold or repurposed, with all proceeds reinvested into the programme to further support young musicians.

Condition of Equipment

Donated equipment should meet the following criteria:

Working Condition: Fully functional and ready for immediate use.

Repairable Condition: Items that are not currently functional but can be repaired economically and safely.

Equipment that is beyond repair or poses safety risks will not be accepted.

Ownership and Transfer

By donating equipment, you confirm that:

You are the rightful owner of the item(s).

You have the legal right to donate the item(s).

Upon donation, ownership of the equipment transfers to Cambridge Junction.

Cambridge Junction reserves the right to determine who receives donated equipment.

No Financial Gain

Cambridge Junction commits to ensuring that no financial profit is made from the donated equipment. All equipment will be used directly to benefit young musicians or, if sold due to unsuitability, proceeds will be used solely to support the programme.

Acknowledgment of Donations

Upon request, Cambridge Junction will provide a written acknowledgment of the donation, including a description of the item(s) donated.

Right to Decline Donations

Cambridge Junction reserves the right to decline any donation that does not meet the criteria outlined above or is deemed unsuitable for the programme's needs.

Liability

Cambridge Junction is not liable for any issues arising from the use of donated equipment, including but not limited to malfunctions or injuries during the drop off and collection process.

Your Data

Cambridge Junction is committed to protecting your personal information and will not to do anything with your information you wouldn't reasonably expect. We will ensure that we look after your details responsibly – and that any organisation using your information on our behalf do the same. Your data will be used for the administration of the Kit Bank initiative. If you wish to hear more about Cambridge Junction, you can join our mailing list by clicking here. All data provided by you may be used by Cambridge Junction for anonymised evaluation purposes unless you opt out. We never have and never will sell or share your details with another organisation for their own purposes. However, if you sign up to our mailing list, may work with trusted third-party providers to help deliver our services—for example, sending email newsletters, collecting feedback, or managing event participant lists.

The information from this form will be stored and shared in accordance with the UK General Data Protection Regulation (UK GDPR) and any applicable data protection laws that may amend or replace it.
